Don't freak out because of the late hour. The goal is to have you out by 9:30 PM every night, but I need to leave myself a window for major mishaps or unexpected delays – you've been warned. You WILL have a break for dinner, although in Dickensian days, starving children were thought to accomplish the most work. ☺ Be prepared to work on homework and take care of other theater things when you're not onstage. Remember: be present, be readily available, and BE FLEXIBLE!
